

Dr Pathom SAWANPANYALERT received his medical doctor degree from Mahidol University Thailand in 1986. Immediately after his medical graduation, he worked in a small rural hospital in northeastern Thailand where he served as a general practitioner and later acted as the hospital director. He later turned his interest to field epidemiology by joining the Field Epidemiology Training Program in Thailand, and pursued his Master's Degree and Doctoral Degree in Public Health in infectious diseases abroad. After the higher education in public health and infectious diseases from the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health in 1995, he worked in a number of technical and administrative capacities and public health fields including occupational medicine, environmental medicine, genetic medicine, HIV/AIDS, influenza, and infectious diseases. In the year 2000, he became the Director of the National Institute of Health of Thailand (Thai NIH). After 10-years services at the Thai NIH, he served as the Deputy Director General of the Department of Medical Sciences, and now becomes the Deputy Secretary General of the Food and Drug Administration of Thailand (Thai FDA) overseeing regulatory control of drugs and narcotics.

He was involved in a number of national and international activities including services in the preparatory working group for establishment of the National Social Security Office. He was a key member in the Thai Delegation to discuss and negotiate framework for sharing of influenza virus and its resultant benefits. He also served in the WHO-supported Advisory Committee for Global Action Plan (GAP) for Influenza Vaccine until 2012.

Dr Pathom is the founding member and the current President of the Field Epidemiologists' Association of Thailand (FEAT).
